The Studio: A welcoming abode

A spiritual retreat @ Zen Pod

Inviting, Welcoming, Timeless

City living is synonymous with fast living and busy people. But home is where everything slows down for the body, mind and spirit to rest and recharge to take on new challenges the next day. That is what the 37-storey Tribeca Serviced Suites is designed to do, and more.

Developed by Low Yat Group, a pioneering property developer and hospitality provider since 1950 and is synonymous with the development of Bukit Bintang, this latest offering is more than just a residence, hotel and commercial building. Its bespoke design is aimed at enriching the soul and rejuvenating the body, says executive director Low Su Ming.

"It is basically coming home to a prestigious, cosy abode to rest and relax, allowing one to pace himself or herself in his or her choice of lifestyle," she adds.

Tribeca's residential units are located on Levels 9 to 20 and 30 to 37, while the 108 hotel suites are on Levels 21 to 29. The suites, which are between 510 and 1,292 sq ft, are managed by Low Yat's hospitality division, Fairlane Hospitality.

"Tribeca is poised to be the newest pride of Kuala Lumpur, commanding a prime position in the heart of Kuala Lumpur's Golden Triangle, along Jalan Imbi, one of the city's main arterial roads," says Low.

Among the unique features of Tribeca are specially designed sculptures that represent Malay, Chinese and Indian communities living harmoniously together in Malaysia. There are also specially curated lifestyle "pods" to cater for the needs of both residents and guests.

The pods are Gym Pod, Zen Pod, Jungle Pod, Social Pod and Business Pod. Low says the pod are designed to cater for "young families and professionals who are discerning tourists and travellers".

"They are conceptualised to meet individuals' needs... quality, natural ambience and earthly thematic serviced suites that come with five-star hotel services," she adds.

The Business Pod is ideal for young entrepreneurs. They can strategise their business moves with help from the secretarial services provided or negotiate a deal in one of the meeting rooms.

For those who need to find their spiritual self and retreat, there is the Zen Pod — one can de-stress by going through some yoga routines or light dance exercises here.

For those who love to pump iron, the Gym Pod is where their muscles can get a full workout. Besides premium equipment, personal trainers are also on standby to ensure proper techniques are adhered to for maximum results.

Young families with rumbustious and active children need not worry as the Jungle Pod is specially designed for those below 12 years. It has colourful game equipment and children's reading material. Child-minding services are also available, giving busy parents peace of mind while they run their errands.

For the social butterflies who love to entertain and socialise, the Social Pod should be a big plus. It is equipped with fun-loving equipment and has areas to satisfy all their social needs. There are billiard and foosball tables, a music room, space to watch a favourite sitcom, movie or World Cup matches with friends and a reading room. A snack machine is provided to satisfy any peckish cravings.

However, for a more satisfying meal, there is the Wizards café, which offers unique dishes that please discerning taste buds.

"To satisfy the appetite of a variety of guests, Wizards, an all day dining café has prepared a selection of epicurean delights, including hearty breakfast and extensive brunches, to be enjoyed at Wizards" says Low. "It is operated by the multi-award-winning team behind popular eateries Yellow Brick Road and The Red Beanbag. It is a chic, cosy space that serves an eclectic menu of mod-oz fusion dishes."

The walnut panels and earthy tones of the café blend nicely with the reception and main lobby, providing a continuous flow from the exterior to the interior of Tribeca for that "warm welcome" feel.

Tribeca has been a labour of love. It aims to not only stand out in the city but also enhance the city's landscape.

"Ultimately, we wish to promote not only Tribeca but also the Bukit Bintang area as this is where Low Yat Group's seed was sown many years ago," says Low.

With the years of experience and a love for quality, Low Yat's latest gem is set to shine brightly for years to come.
